

An exceptional Nurse Resident experience at UF Health Central Florida

This program is designed for recent graduates of accredited Registered Nurse and Practical Nurse programs with less than one year of acute care experience. Participants receive support while entering practice with mentorship, education, simulation and hands-on clinical experiences.

Our exceptional Nurse Residency Program offers:

- A program that respects your new degree and eases your transition to practice
- A free NCLEX review course to help prepare you for your exam; we're here to support you as you prepare to support the communities you'll serve
- More than 80 hours of evidence-based curriculum that promotes confidence and excellence
- Hands-on practice to develop critical thinking skills in a safe environment
- Professional preceptors to provide mentorship, guidance and intensive clinical development
- Personalized progress evaluations during orientation to keep you grounded and on track
- One full year of support, encouragement and reflective practice events
- Benefits that start on Day 1
- Six cohorts scheduled in 2023: January, March, May, July, September and November

Our nursing career benefits

- Access to continuous education through UF Health Central Florida Academy classes
- Tuition reimbursement to advance your career
- Leadership focused on developing you as a professional nurse and member of our team

"The program was very educational and presented topics that are very important for every new nurse."

— 2022 Nurse Resident

"This is the only place that I feel truly supported while learning to be a new nurse. The education team is very approachable."

— 2022 Nurse Resident

"The educators provided real-life situations that I will see as a floor nurse."

— 2021 Nurse Resident

"The program is exceptional and covers material that will help us become great nurses."

— 2020 Nurse Resident